

DANVERS
Historical Society

Keeping the Stories Alive is an initiative of the Danvers Historical Society that preserves Danvers history for future generations through the collection of personal memories, stories, and pictures of Danvers life.

We invite you to

- Share memories and stories of family, special friendships, and traditions
- Share pictures of events, holidays, vacations, and places in town you cherish the most
- Recount sights, sounds, smells, and tastes that made a moment special
- Recapture the moments of the heart that brought joy and happiness into your life
- Create a glimpse into the Danvers you remember

Yes! Enclosed is my “story” for Keeping The Stories Alive.

Submitted by: _____ Phone: _____

Email: _____

Suggested Title: _____

Category (housing, transportation, life, dress, people, school work, humor, etc):

I hereby submit this story to the Danvers Historical Society (DHS) for inclusion in the project, “Keeping the Stories Alive,” and give express permission to the Society to publish or otherwise use this material for any purpose of its choosing, except by providing other groups to use it for commercial gain. I further authorize the DHS, its Trustees, employees and project volunteers to edit my submission as they deem necessary. Submissions should be made to the attention of Thomas M. Page via email dhs@danvershistory.org; U.S. mail or hand delivery to the Jeremiah Page House office, 11 Page Street, Danvers, MA 01923.

My choice for author’s identification is: My name Name withheld per request Anonymous

Signature: _____ Date: _____